

No COMIDA flight today due to limited visibility and persistent snow showers. Over the next six days, the COMIDA team will be stretching the 20 survey hours remaining before the next mandatory aircraft inspections. The aircraft will transit to Anchorage for the inspections to begin on Monday, 18 October.