

No COMIDA flight today due to strong winds (consistently greater than 20 kts) and reduced visibility due to snow. The aircraft is en route to Anchorage for scheduled inspection to begin tomorrow. Barring unexpected maintenance issues, the aircraft will be back in Barrow Wednesday for a potential survey flight Thursday (21 October), weather permitting.